Nevada State Bank promotes Robert Arnal to vice president, business development sales manager

LAS VEGAS – Nevada State Bank has promoted banking veteran Robert Arnal to vice president, business development sales manager.

Arnal will be responsible for coaching and developing the bank's business banking officer team and helping foster new business relationships throughout Southern Nevada. Arnal joined Nevada State Bank in 2016, showing a passion for business development. Most recently, he was selected as the branch manager to open the Downtown Summerlin branch. He has nine years of experience directly related to opening and managing new branches in the Las Vegas area, and 21 years of retail banking experience overall.

"Robert's knowledge and expertise will serve him well as he leads the business banking officer team," said Nevada State Bank Executive Vice President and Director of Retail Banking Craig Kirkland. "His extensive banking experience and business development acumen will be a great asset as we continue to serve the needs of our small business clients."

Outside of Nevada State Bank, Robert is the chairman of the board, Real Estate Committee chairman, and Community Building and Engagement Committee chairman for Neighborhood Housing Services of Southern Nevada. He also enjoys volunteering with Three Square Food Bank and Junior Achievement of Southern Nevada.
